What Happened TODAY

A crowd of several hundred blocked the sidewalk outside the Montreal Daily Star offices today as election results were being posted on a bulletin board.

Two women walked past. One turned to the other and asked:

"What's going on?"

"Oh, it's the elections in the United States," her companion answered.

Traffic cops in Chattanooga, Tenn., are convinced that now they've heard every possible excuse for breaking traffic rules.

The latest came from an elderly man called into court for not putting money in the town's parking meters. The man admitted he had parked without paying. He also admitted he had seen the iron meters beside each car. But his excuse was not putting in a nickel got him out of the fine. He said he thought the parking meters were weighing machines.

Saville Row tallows loyally concealed their shudders today—the King is wearing tartan dinner jackets.

Five months ago, Talor and Cutter, the Bible of London's male fashion-makers, roasted Americans for starting the fad.

"Not even the Scots would dare follow this trend," it said.

Today the news that the King has two of the new numbers in the Royal Stuart tartan broke around Saville Row's startled ears. But Talor and Cutter reacted with traditional British aplomb.

"It is very tasteful," declared John Taylor, noting that the King had worn his tartan dinner jacket only at informal parties. "His Majesty will bring dignity to this garment."

"Oh, that's an old excuse to get the line," someone laughed when John Ogle broke into the conversation on his 10-party telephone line yesterday to call the fire department in Cypress, Calif.

The conversation was resumed and Ogle turned to a nearby ranch to use the phone there, his house burned, leaving the Ogles and their five children homeless.

For nine months 90 London street cleaners battled for a five-day work week. Recently they got it.

Today they asked for permission to work 5½ days. They said their wives have been making them do house-hold chores Saturday during.

Said one worker: "We just can't stand the messes."

A Swiss army mechanic, said to have put nearly $10,000 earned from spying into a New York bank before the war, pleaded guilty yesterday to espionage for the United States, Britain and France.

Willy Gerber, 47, was brought before a Swiss military court. He faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

The prosecution charged that Gerber had been in the United States for several years, making it his life work to divulge everything there was to divulge in Switzerland.

Britain Pushes Jets, Some Secrecy Relaxed

By H. L. Jones

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(CP)—Britain, pioneer of the jet engine in the stress of war, remains its foremost developer in time of peace.

At least five British jet units capable of powering planes for faster-than-sound speeds have been developed to such an extent they are off the secret list. And in the security-girded laboratories of Her Majesty's aircraft, still secret, are in the making.

Five foreign countries, including the United States, have been granted licenses to manufacture British jet engines or modifications of them. Of the Commonwealth countries, only Australia holds one of these licenses. Canada is developing her own jet engines.

Much has been accomplished in the nine years since Sir Frank Whittle first conceived the jet engine. Britain now is test-flying the world's first civilian jet airplane, the Comet, designed for Trans-Atlantic service. She is powered by four Ghost engines and has a speed better than 300 miles an hour. The De Havilland Company, her builders, recently said she would prove much more economical to operate than piston-engine planes.

Britain's newest bomber, the Canberra, is also jet-powered. Her two Rolls Royce Avons, which thrust, give her such speed which she has never been reported to be unarmed.

One of the most recent British jet planes is the Meteor, a single-engine fighter. Its performance is still secret. The Meteor is a jet-powered fighter and is the most powerful practical jet engine in the world.

A peaked leathered-on she called the creature was considered the height of fashion during the Middle Ages—a chain tied around the knee held up the long tunic.

At once as the jury was completed court adjourned to 2:15 p.m.

The alim Jeweller is accused of the murder of his wife in a plane crash which killed 22 others when it smashed Sept. 19 into a rocky promontory at Saint-Augustin, Quebec.

The crash came after a time-bomb had been placed aboard the aircraft. Jurymen Gagnon is a forestry engineer and Lemieux is a provincial government agronomist.

The adjournment to this afternoon was requested by Crown Prosecutor Lord Dorton who first asked for only three-quarters-of-an-hour adjournment so he could prepare his outline of the case which he will give the jury.

Guay will be tried by an all-male jury of three farmers, two forestry engineers, four workers in industry, a provincial agronomist, a mail clerk and a trucker. All are French-speaking, Guay's language.

The main test put to the jury candidates was a series of questions by defence counsel to make sure that none of the men who will decide Guay's innocence or guilt is prejudiced against him.

Neck-to-Neck Race In U.K. Election

SPRITS PICK UP

Conservatives, at first inclined to be pessimistic, picked up spirits as the day wore on.

They were doubly cheered when Winston Churchill, wartime prime minister, scored an overwhelming victory in Woodford, Essex.

After the result was announced Churchill told a cheering crowd the election had been a "model of the way things are done, irrespective of party feeling in our island."

Yesterday's victory resulted in a record 55 per cent poll, and voters seemed to divide their choice evenly between Conservatives and Labour with little thought for the Liberals and other minority groups.

Like Atlee and Churchill, Liberal Leader Clement Davies scored a personal victory. He retained the Welsh county seat of Montgomery with an increased majority.

SANDY'S IS WINNER

Re-elected to the commons were Prime Minister Atlee, the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripp, apostle of hard work and self-discipline; health minister Aneurin Bevan, who supervises housing and the national health service; foreign secretary Ernest Bevin, the deputy prime minister, Herbert Morrison, and other ministers.

But colonial secretary Arthur Creech-Jones lost to his Conservative opponent, Sir John Gollan. Gollan, who stands 11th in the list of 100,000 voters, was defeated.

Among the defeated Conservatives were Randolph Churchill, son of the late prime minister, and Stanley, Churchill's son-in-law, who stood in Conservative Streatham.

Anthony Eden, who stands 11th in the list of 100,000 voters, was defeated. He was the Conservative party leader, and the Conservative party leader, and the Conservative party leader.

CRIPPLES IS PLEASED

Churchill, who at 75 has fought possibly the last big political battle of his lifetime, sat up until the small hour receiving the return by direct teleprinter at his home near London's Hyde Park.

Sir Stafford Cripp, treasurer of the Conservative party, was more than two to one. Commenting on this, the man whose name is synonymous with austerity, told his supporters:

"The results show that the people are determined to hang on to the things they have got. We have done all sorts of things in the Labor government which they do not like, but you are coming along and supporting the things we have done."

The election, like most such affairs in Britain, was orderly. Police, with no disorders to quell, spent some of their time holding babies while mothers voted.

The King was kept constantly informed of the progress of the election today from special teletype machines installed at Buckingham Palace.

London's leading bookmakers closed their betting books on the election early in the morning. At that time the best-known west end bookmaker was laying odds of 6 to 4 on Labour and 4 to 1 against the Conservatives.

Tax Decision Is Protested

Many property owners in the city's former "outer zone of taxation" are protesting before a hearing of Board of Public Utility Commissioners in city council chambers seeking tax concessions on their land.

The action follows recent decision to change the city's "outer zone of taxation" to include the area between the city limits and the provincial line.

AT SESSION

Reviews Of Members On Other Side

This is how opposition members look to one member on the government side of the Alberta legislature.

J. Harper Prowse, Liberal leader, "A honorable member who has many very fine attributes, vainly expending his talents and energy in the hopeless cause of trying to resurrect a party which has been buried for nearly 30 years under an avalanche of votes for somebody else."

Hugh John MacDonald, Liberal MHA, "There is the honorable member holding forth in the most sagest way possible, his head sagged high with many learned and voluminous documents from which he quotes ad infinitum and ad nauseum."

A. J. E. Lissauer, CPC MLA, "His seat was occupied by a member who was openly an avowed Communist, the speaker would then hear from that corner of the House would be substantially the same."

Elmer E. Roper, CPC Leader, "This member is much given to outbursts of buffed rage and indignation."

The thumbnail sketches are by courtesy of A. O. Aalborg, Social Credit MHA who voiced them during the House when he spoke on the speech from the Throne.

Palmer flower of them all among courages worn by women members and spectators at the legislature opening was the mauve orchid on Mrs. C. H. Wood of Stony Plain. An orchid is an annual and the first opening gift to Mrs. Wood from friends in Calgary. Yesterday was the fourth she has worn it at House ceremonies.

Drumming for home constituencies started early in the second session of Alberta legislature. A. O. Aalborg, member for Alexander in the first speech in the House today said the "Lloydminster field in his constituency is on the verge of a new boom. It marks the 1,000 barrels of oil a day at Pin Fin and 5,000 barrels a day in Washington, and another 1,000 barrels a day in Saskatchewan power plants are available to the Lloydminster production he said.

A. V. Bourcier, MLA for Lac Ste. Anne, who has been soliciting of a "lot" share of the Social Credit party, has been provided with a cloakroom of his own in the legislature building.

Mr. Bourcier has been barred from Social Credit caucus because of publicly expressed disagreement with government policies.

VETERANS GOOD PUPILS

Canada's student veterans have done a good job at university.

Eighty percent of the veterans attending university have passed in all their courses.

Only 5,000 out of approximately 50,000 student veterans failed in academic performance, a number well below the average of failures for ordinary students, according to a report of the National Conference on Canadian Universities.

Search On, Couple Were Out Visiting

"Missing" couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Berchuk, are back in their Deserai, Alta., home today, missing persons office of the city police said this morning.

The couple, subject of widespread inquiries since they disappeared last Saturday after saying they were returning to Deserai from Edmonton, phoned police to say they "had been visiting friends."

They were unaware of the search being conducted until they read newspaper accounts that police were seeking them.

Meanwhile missing persons bureau here has been asked to locate an American youth, Ray Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Thomas, 1125, Newton, Penn.

The parents wrote police they think their son may be in this area because they have received letters from him saying he was going into the "northwest."

He left home Feb. 3 to strike out "on his own," the parents said.

Unemployment Insurance Jumps One Cent Per Day In Slump

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—An additional 100,000 unemployed Canadians are expected to receive financial assistance out of the unemployment insurance fund as result of legislative changes given unanimous support in the Commons yesterday.

The changes, providing for special and supplementary payments to the unemployed, also will increase the contributions made by employers, employees and the government to the unemployment insurance fund.

Parliament today will debate the principle of the complicated measure. It was given first reading last night after four hours of debate on a resolution containing the changes is general terms.

By general agreement the common is giving precedence to this measure because of the unemployment situation. The number of unemployed is currently estimated by the labor department at more than 375,000.

The contributions of employers and employees, which vary according to the worker's salary, will be increased by one-cent-a-day each. The government will pay one-fifth of the total employer-employee contributions.

Another change will bring an additional 90,000 workers within the provisions of the unemployment insurance act. At present only workers earning $13,200 a year or less are covered by the act. Under the new legislation the act will be extended to cover workers earning $4,000 or less a year.

Workers in logging and lumbering industries, hitherto excluded, will be brought within provisions of the act.

The new legislation was explained by health minister Martin, acting labor minister, when he introduced a resolution in a bill providing for the changes.

OPPOSITION IN FAVOR

Speakers for the opposition group—Gordon Graydon (PC), Peeli, Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East), and F. D. Shaw (SC—New Brunswick)—said they would favor passage of the legislation but expressed regret it did not provide some solution to the unemployment insurance problem.

At the night sitting the resolution was adopted, the bill introduced and given first reading. As copies were not available, opposition members declined to continue discussion and debate was switched to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Health minister Martin said one of the main amendments to the unemployment insurance act will

U.S. Takes Steps to Counter Cold War Offensive in Asia

LAWBREAKERS GET EXCUSE FROM DREW

CALGARY, Feb. 24.—(CP) George Drew, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said last night any person prosecuted by the federal justice department "has a right to say such a department has no right to prosecute them."

Mr. Drew, in a banquet address to the Alberta Progressive Conservative Association in convention here, said "law-breakers" get a "right to say such a department has no right to prosecute them."

He charged the federal government with "not only an attack on the individual but on the whole basis of responsible government" for not releasing the committee investigation report on the milling industry within a specified period.

Senator Asks Trade Study

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—Senator Wilfrid Robertson, government leader in the senate, urged the upper chamber yesterday to make a full-dress study of all aspects of Canadian trade.

Senator Robertson reviewed the trade picture and said the senate could do "a very vital service" to public opinion by investigating the long-term trends.

A proposal for a special trade committee was made in December by Senator J. A. McDonald (Lib.-Nova Scotia). It would have power to call experts on trade with all parts of the world, devaluation, increasing of imports, tariff questions and other trade problems.

Senator Robertson yesterday stressed the importance of Canada's export trade to the economy of the country.

Canada's national economy was based on the production of a surplus of some commodities over what could possibly be consumed at home. It also was necessary to import a large volume of products and provide for international payments.

Exclusive to the Bulletin

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(BUP)—The United States expects a major Soviet cold war offensive designed to bring rich and strategic south-east Asia under Moscow's sway.

The possibility of any genuine Soviet "peace talks" with the United States, at least until this test of strength is decided, has been ruled out by the administration.

RUSSIA WANTS TIN

Any "peace talks" now, would be only Red propaganda maneuvers designed to create confusion and mask the Kremlin's real designs.

President Truman has refused congressional demands for a bold new approach to break the east-west deadlock over atomic controls. He told his news conference yesterday the U.S. is doing its best to reach an agreement but that Russia has shown no change of heart in blocking every U.S. move.

The prize reportedly sought by Russia is control of the huge tin and rubber production of the area—the same goal sought by Japan in World War II. Shortage of these two vital commodities is considered the most vulnerable spot in the present Soviet war machine.

PLAN ASIAN BLOC

Evidence of Moscow's intention has prompted Secretary of State Dean Acheson to call on the young founding nations of Southeast Asia to link forces in an economic, political and social union to resist the spread of Communism.

Acheson indicated the United States might back up a "spontaneous" move towards such an Asiatic bloc with some form of Marshall Plan.

The state department announced that a special economic mission will leave for Asia early next week to prepare the way for possible U.S. aid in Burma, Malaya, Thailand, Indonesia and the French states of Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

Basically, officials here said, American economic strategists are seeking a way to integrate the economy of the southeast Asian nations with that of Japan.

Such a plan would see Japan's industrial production supplying the markets of southeast Asia. An increased rice production in that area, in turn, would help meet Japan's food shortage.

MLA in 1905, Pioneer Dies

LETHBRIDGE, Feb. 24.—(CP)—J. W. (Johnny) Woolf, 80, Canadian pioneer and member of the first Alberta legislature representing Cardston riding, died Wednesday of a heart condition in Salt Lake City, Utah. Funeral services and interment will be there Saturday.

Mr. Woolf drove overland from his native Utah with his parents in 1867, a member of Charles Ora Card's original company of pioneers who founded Cardston.

A pioneer in the development of the community, Mr. Woolf bought a band of sheep in 1894 and later went into the cattle business. He supplied large quantities of beef to construction crews building the railway through the Crow's Nest Pass.

At the turn of the century he entered politics, defeating the late H. S. Allen for a seat in the old territorial legislature at Regina when Alberta was made a province in 1905. Mr. Woolf was elected for Cardston. He retired from politics in 1931, and most of his Canadian interests and moved back to the United States.

Peace River Area Needs Settlers

Future Importance Stressed At Grande Prairie Meeting

By Gertrude Charters
GRANDE PRAIRIE, Feb. 24—(CP)—A meeting of the Peace River country was attended by Hugh E. Pearson, first vice-president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Flood of Jap Goods Denied

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—There is no danger of world markets being flooded with cheap Japanese goods in the near future, a 14-man Japanese parliamentary delegation said today.

The delegation, speaking through an interpreter at a press conference in the parliamentary gallery, admitted there had been extensive dumping of Japanese goods before the war.

However, Japanese experts, they said, are strictly controlled by allied powers who also fix prices of goods.

Infu Aizawa, a member of the Social Democratic or Labor party, said Japan and her labor organizations realize they must win back the world's confidence.

Members of the delegation, on a two-day visit to study the Canadian parliament, were asked such pre-war practices as stamping Japanese goods with labels "Made in USA" and "Made in Canada" as being shipping them abroad.

They said some goods had been manufactured in a town named Britain, but they had since been moved to other towns.

Election Void Unseats MP

HALIFAX, Feb. 24.—(CP)—A federal by-election in the Annapolis Valley riding of Annapolis-Kent was voided by the Supreme Court today following a Nova Scotia supreme court ruling that the Liberal candidate now sitting for the riding was not duly elected.

The court ruled yesterday that election of Angus A. Elderskin was voided because of a technical error by a majority of four.

Both Mr. Elderskin and George Nowlan, the Progressive Conservative candidate who opposed him in the June 7 federal election, have eight days to appeal the decision to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Until that time, however, Mr. Elderskin will retain his seat in the House of Commons.

The appeal contended that 130 of the 197 statute voters should not have had ballots in the valley riding. Their votes should have been counted in their home ridings.

Elizabeth Will Fly To Malta

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth is flying to Malta next month for her second visit with her husband.

A spokesman at Clarence House, London home of the Princess, said she intended to leave for Malta about March 28. The Duke of Edinburgh is on his way there as first lieutenant of the destroyer Chieftain.

Last year she spent from Nov. 20 to Dec. 20 with him. Their son, Prince Charles, probably will stay at home again this time.

East Germany's Red Chief Visits Soviet

BERLIN, Feb. 24.—(AP)—East Germany's powerful communist chief, Walter Ulbricht, left today for Russia on what was officially described as a vacation for health reasons.

Reliable political circles said the purpose of the trip was to discuss Germany's deputy prime minister to be in contact with the Kremlin on further action against the western occupation powers.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 24.—(AP)—A plane Victor Lind, 30-year-old aircraft mechanic, was sucked into the air intake of a Swedish jet fighter yesterday and instantly killed.

ROOF RAISED IN JIG TIME

RED DEER, Feb. 24.—More than the owner took a just pride in re-opening of a new garage in north Red Deer.

The business was demolished by fire in December and a fund was organized by neighbors and friends to assist in its re-establishment.

A crew of 40 men volunteered labor and at one time 2,000 feet of roofing lumber was put on in a matter of two and a half hours.

Miner Claims Uranium Find

SUNDANCE, Wyo., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Uranium ore and valuable rare earth oxide discovered near here has been termed "the greatest known deposit in the world" by its discoverers.

The strike was announced by J. K. Ketchum, Duluth, Minn., mining engineer, who said he made the discovery last August but withheld announcement pending development work.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman announced in Washington that the AEC will examine the source of the radioactive area submitted to it.

At Salt Lake City the bureau of mines station, which tested the samples, reported they contained "moderate amounts of uranium and appreciable quantities of Thorium, cerium, lanthanum, and other rare earths."

MPs Hosts To Curlers

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—A band of high school curlers arrived in Ottawa today from Quebec City as guests of western members of parliament.

The curlers, representing five teams from British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Northwest Ontario, took part in this week in the Canadian high school championships at Quebec City.

Happiest of all was dark-haired Bill Clarke, who skipped his Regina team to top honors in the competition.

The boys were guests of the western members for lunch and dinner and will make a sight-seeing trip to the Parliament Hill and the Parliament buildings.

They are scheduled to play exhibition matches with Ottawa high school students tonight before leaving for home.

Cranial Crumbings

Some mental knockout drops absorbed while listening to comments on the Golden Gloves boxing tournament: Wonder if they'll have enough rocket ships ready to take us all to the moon before the first B-bombs go off? ... Wonder when the Russians will announce they invented the safety pin? ... Wonder if those big heaps of snow on city side streets will be moved away before the big spring thaw? (Loyds of London are quoting seven to four against on this one) ... Wonder if there ever was a person who wanted to pay income taxes? ... Wonder if Edmonton dogs could be coaxed into not barking after midnight? ... Wonder where I can borrow two dollars until payday? ... Wonder where Lieutenant-Governor Bowen got his silk topper?

Long Distance Medicine

The old family doctor is still tops with one Edmonton mother.

The other evening this mother had spots before her eyes and they were all on 15 months-old Junior as he splashed into his tub.

Looked like a case of old-fashioned measles all right so mama naturally called the doctor. But the doctor was the old family physician and friend, 500 miles away in Vancouver. He told her what to do of course. But now papa is slightly disturbed in a fiscal way.

Long distance phone call ran to $18.75 and there's still the matter of family physician's fee.

I was very glad indeed to read of H. L. "Bud" Williamson's promotion to manager of Edmonton branch of Massey-Harris Co. Ltd.

"Bud" was a mighty fine rugby, baseball and lacrosse player back in those 1930's when everything was cheap but nobody had any money to buy. Congrats and good luck, "Bud", from all the old gang.

Just when I was all set to run one of those what-ever became of Jack Farrell items, I see Jack large as life taking on a big pot of Java in the Mac cafeteria. Maybe I'm the fellow who doesn't get around as much as I once did.

Shortlived Secret

Honeycombs are like homelides in one way. They're both hard to keep secret. One Edmontonian who will vouch for the truth of this assertion is Robert Anderson, clerk of Alberta's legislative assembly.

Just about 30 years ago this month Bob "sneaked" down to Calgary and got married. Both the bride and groom thought they had pulled the thing off in a very slick manner indeed.

Imagine Bob's amazement at the opening of the legislature a couple of days later when the then Premier Charles Stewart solemnly felt the Anderson pulse and remarked before a big crowd of M.L.A.'s: "It doesn't go very fast for a newly-married man."

It developed that Premier Stewart just happened to be standing in the lobby at Calgary when Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were signing the register.

Elegant Elsie can't understand why they need a speaker in the legislature with all the members talking as much as they do.

A warmhearted goodnight to all and especially to all those youngsters who are throwing punches in The Bulletin's Golden Gloves Boxing tournament to help other kids who are unable to throw punches.

Recreation and Parks Units May Amalgamate

Amalgamation of the city's Recreation Commission and Parks Department under one administrative head will be recommended to city council Monday night by its by-laws committee.

Immigrants' Stage Fare

A small group of British immigrants to Canada gave Edmonton drama a boost last night with their production "Now Is the Hour".

The three-act play, written and produced by Peter Greaves, was presented in Recreation Hall, sponsored group was the Alberta British Immigrants Association of Edmonton.

"Now Is the Hour" deals with the problem of a young Englishman torn between the lure of the New World and remaining in his homeland with his sweetheart and mill.

There wasn't much of a crowd at the performance—about 80, but spectators made up for last week's applause.

Playwright Greaves sums up his group's aim with: "We just want to make immigrants generally and the British new to the city of the 30's Country in particular, feel a little more at home. We also want to help familiarize them with the Canadian scene."

The play will be repeated to-night—(W. L.).

The first exploration of Hudson Bay was made by Henry Hudson in 1610.

Conversion Time Changed For Garbage Can Problem

City council will be asked Monday to approve the new garbage collection bylaw, limiting total weight of can and contents to 70 pounds.

Council's bylaw committee last night approved the measure, with a new stipulation that three years be allowed for complete conversion to a lighter type of can than the old gas barrels now in general use.

But the committee balked at passing judgment on whether the city should by its bylaws encourage standard garbage cans for resale to citizens at about $1 each, and passed this provision for a minimum $1 and maximum $100 fine on summary conviction.

City Engineer J. D. A. Macdonald said provision in the new bylaw calling for certain action of the city will involve purchase of additional low-loading trucks, eliminating most of the bad treatment accorded garbage cans.

Committee agreed to inclusion of $5 GREASE BARRELS OK

The estimated 250 to 300 householders now using large heavy-duty gas barrels weighing more than 100 pounds empty will be left a written notice asking them to dispose of them immediately in favor of a lighter can.

Ald. Ted Clarke said ample supplies of grease barrels, one-quarter the size of the large oil barrels, are available at 50 cents each from filling stations and garages.

Committee member D. B. Menzies told Ald. Clarke there is nothing in the new bylaw to prevent use of these containers provided they are fitted with a watertight cover.

Test Cases Over Grain Deliveries

By J. V. O'Neil

Sixteen farmers of Fort Saskatchewan and Villeneuve districts and one Edmonton grain buyer yesterday were charged here before Magistrate Alfred Simpson, J.C., with breach of the Canadian Wheat Board Act of 1935.

The case is believed to be one of the first actions of its kind to be heard in Alberta. It concerns alleged delivery to, and acceptance of, grain to a point other than the one specified on each grain producer's Canadian Wheat Board permit book.

Acting for the board in the right of the Crown is George J. Bryan, K.C. Defense counsel for the grain buyer and the 16 farmers is S. Bruce Smith, K.C.

SEEN AS TEST CASE
The action is expected to test the federal regulations regarding delivery quotas.

It was instituted after a report was forwarded to a board representative by Thomas Barrigan, Edmonton, board inspector who checked books of McCabe Grain Company here following alleged purchases of coarse grains by the McCabe grain buyer, William F. McCurdy.

Under examination by Mr. Bryan, the local inspector said he saw Mr. McCurdy sign Oct. 3 after having received a report that McCabe Grain Company had been accepting deliveries of grain without authority of the Canadian Wheat Board.

Delinquent co-ops, S. Bruce Smith, K.C.

By consent of Magistrate Simpson and agreement of crown and defense counsel 12 of the 16 cases were adjourned to March 23.

Meanwhile the trial of three farmers and the grain buyers will continue in Villeneuve.

Clothing Mark-Ups
Less Than Last Year

By Bea Thrifty

Merchandising experts are mumbling about mark-ups... mark-downs and the change in sale rates during the past year.

Clothing salesmen are right at the top of the list. They blame the condition on the law of supply and demand. Now the markets are awash with goods... and just to be perverse... the public is not in a buying mood.

That's it to one thing. They're just tired of it. 'Nother reason for an obvious price reduction in clothes this year is the increase in designer and manufacturer collections. Not only between individual companies... but between nations as well.

We'll see another year of fluctuating prices before there's any kind of a leveling off.

But now that we've dispensed with that professed bit of plavering... let's get down to the serious business of shopping. And have you tried the mandarin orange sections... a new arrival on our local market selling for 25c per tin. There's a lovely dandy for children's, dessert, fruit cocktails, salads... such.

And while we're in the same vein, there are new shipments of... quality grapefruit sections available in a large-size tin for 35c. Tin is slightly smaller than a regular one... and contains a lot of grapefruit. These of course are match-made for the orange sections for a quick salad or cocktail.

Sweet or sour cherries are here in abundance now too.

The sour cherries are for the scrumptious Sunday-dinner theme. Your husband favors... and the sweet are for them as kids' cherries as... or in salads.

Tin varies in size and price from 25c each right up to 40c each.

For that part and party blouse to wear 'neath the Easter parade suit there's, a new tubular silk blouse that does the job up right smart.

It sells at $9c and $11.99 per yard. Comes in white and pastel shades and is easy to sew with. I am partial to the yellow myself.

That fuzzy chap, the Easter Bunny is showing his edible ware in the local shops. Last year chocolate Easter eggs sold at such fantastic prices stores were left with large supplies in their hands... so watch your getting a fresh egg milder.

Princess Alice Named First Woman U. Chancellor

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 18.—(CP)—Princess Alice, 66, wife of the Earl of Athlone, recently became the first woman university chancellor in the British Commonwealth when she was installed at the University of the British West Indies.

Her husband was Governor-General of Canada before Viscount Alexander.

Dr. P. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, represented Canadian universities at the impressive, colorful ceremony.

In her inaugural address, Princess Alice deplored the fact that the current of religious faith was far weaker now than it was in the last century with all its materialism.

executed a very nice squeeze play. The opening lead of the queen of spades was won in dummy with the king. Now Mr. Klausner made a safety play. He led a small club to his ace and returned a queen only to find that East was out of club. Dummy's queen was played which West won with the king.

The four of diamonds was returned, which dummy won with the king. Mr. Klausner proceeded to cash four heart tricks, winning the last heart with the ace and discarding the ten of spades from his hand. The ace of diamonds was cashed and a small spade led to the ace.

Wait found himself squeezed, if he let go the ten of diamonds declarer's queen and ace would be good. If he discarded the seven of clubs it would establish dummy's jack and eight of clubs for the last two tricks.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Reader Asks How To Keep Love Thrilling

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a very fine girl and we are very ardently in love. What shall we do to keep our love always as thrilling as it now is?

How shall we avoid the pitfall of boredom? I never go out with other girls, she never goes out with other boys, mainly because we do not want to. If we try not to see each other too often, will that help to keep our love always romantic?

ANSWER: You can no more keep your love in a first time—a first time of young love than you can keep the work mystery of the dawn from turning into the full day. Nor can you perpetuate thrills and keep turning hot and cold over a thing that has happened to you a hundred times.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT There is always something different in a first time—a first time of sailing into a new harbor, a first time of getting some recognition in the work you are doing, a first love, a first kiss, that never comes again. It is a surprise, a revelation, a promise of undiscovered delights that makes our pulses leap and floods our souls with the joy of expectancy.

So if you are asking how you can keep your love kept up always to the end degree and be all in this hectic world and feverish life, I can only say it can't be done.

But all of this has nothing to do with real love. Romance is just the fancy trappings in which love is wrapped up in the days of courtship. It isn't love itself, and a man and woman never know how much they throw away all of this flub-dub and all the rest without it.

Disables you can keep your love romantic longer by seeing little of each other, as you suggest, but affection that can't stand the test of familiarity is a poor, weak reed on which to lean. How about the long years of close daily association after you are married when you will have to bear with each other in sickness and comfort each other in misfortune?

And you will be just a human man and woman whose love must be strong enough to bear the strain or else break under it.

As for avoiding boredom, that's easy. Be sure that the one you marry is in your own intellectual class and has the same tastes and interests and then set deliberately about developing comradeship.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Working Mothers Are Discussed Here Today

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The problem of the working mother is one that has to be met repeatedly. Women who have trained for a career cannot be blamed for not wanting to drop it because of parenthood and neither should they be denied that precious boon.

The birth of children may aggravate the economic situation in a home so that the mother may be compelled to get out and earn some money. It isn't always an easy solution for either parent nor is the mother always eager to get away from her parental responsibilities as some might surmise.

Mr. B. H. B. is puzzled as to the best time for leaving her baby. "She is a large mother," she writes, "and my husband and I feel it absolutely essential that I return to work as soon as possible. Naturally, I worry about leaving her with a stranger. How will this affect her?"

"I would like to have some idea of when is the best time, under a year of age, to return to work. Is there any way I can give her a feeling of security even though I am away all during the day? I might add that she is a breast-fed baby and this might be pertinent to the last question."

You should figure up in cold cents what it will cost for a caretaker for her baby. The extra amount spent on milk and formula material, and decide whether, at the moment, it is worth the extra money. It is completely nourishing to her.

It would probably be best to make the date of this separation sometime before the ninth month. After that children develop an increasing timidity toward strangers.

And two weeks before you go to work take the new caretaker in your home, supervise her care of the baby and let her get used to the baby. And, most important of all, be sure that she is an individual who likes babies—all babies. No matter how good her physical care, if she does this only through a sense of duty and has no real affection for her charge, the baby will suffer from your absence.

Myrtle Meyer Eldred is a care newspaper.

Bulgaria Farms Undergo Changes

Reorganization of System Made to Increase Values

Exclusive to the Bulletin

SOFIA, Feb. 24.—(EUP)—While heading towards industrialization, Bulgaria has also set forth to reorganize and bring up to date her agriculture, the No. 1 income source of the country.

Her methods: introduce modern land cultivation, provide for favorable climatic conditions, work along Michurin's scientific lines, co-operate the scattered small farms into bigger land lots.

Her tasks: reorganize rural economy, increase land yields, increase food and industrial raw materials output; introduce new plants.

"Climate is one of Bulgaria's greatest riches," said specialist Eng. Vasil Barnev. He explained that few countries have such varied climate and such profusion of plant life as this land on so small an area. This natural phenomenon is very important for agriculture.

UNDER STUDY

The work of the agriculture ministry has been under serious study. Today the Central committee of the Communist party and the council of ministers published recommendations on all questions connected with improving agriculture in Bulgaria.

They provide for a wider range of activities and an acceleration of the work.

A new Agriculture Minister, Publicist Member Tihom Chernakov, an agricultural specialist himself, will head the reorganized field of Bulgaria's agriculture.

For the first time in generations, Bulgaria is paying serious attention towards utilizing her climatic conditions.

While the continent of Europe as a whole enjoys an increase of one degree of heat every 200 kilometres southwards, the same increase in Bulgaria is felt per 75 kilometres. So, within a small area she enjoys nearly seven climatic belts, according to Eng. Barnev.

NEW PLANTS
A mere half degree annually may mean the popping up or the disappearance of a series of plant species. Thus, watermelons ripen at 9 deg. C, melons at 9.5 deg. C, grapes turn to wine at 10 deg. C. The juicy, sunny orange of the south ripens at 11 deg. C, according to local specialists.

So, while the Bulgarian scientists strive to increase land yields and introduce new plants, some of them are also struggling "to bring the south northwards." To make full use of climatic conditions.

Cattle Breeders Make Move To Increase Markets, Brands

SASKATOON, Feb. 24.—(CP)—All three national associations of the beef cattle breeders, Hereford, Shorthorn and Aberdeen Angus, today endorsed a proposal that Hays Ltd., of Oakville, Ont., and Calgary, conduct a sale of the cattle shown at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

Hoarding Of Coal Probed

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—(EUP)—Authorities recruited truck drivers as part-time detectives today to report cases of hoarding as the city faced a rock-bottom coal shortage.

At the same time, coal dealers warned householders not only to stretch their supplies but to barter coal to prevent blacking.

E. R. Lockyer, secretary of Toronto coal exchange, called on truckers for help after reports that persons were getting supplies from several dealers to beat a one-ton rationing system.

Lockyer called the shortage "grave." He said "no coal hoarding could be tolerated" while the United States strike had stifled the normal flow of supplies into Canada.

Davis Tires Of 'Freedom'

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 24.—(AP)—Garry Davis today started trying to regain American citizenship after a two-year career as "No. 1 Citizen of the World" without a passport. "But the road back won't be easy," Davis remarked while the United States said he wants to go back in order to marry a Hollywood dancing teacher, Audrey Peters. 20. She said he proposed by mail.

Viscount Changes Scout Status

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—The governor-general today announced the appointment of Jackson Dods of Montreal as Canada's first deputy chief scout. Viscount Alexander made the appointment in his capacity as chief scout for Canada. Appointment of Mr. Dods as deputy chief scout does away with the position of Dominion Commissioner, which he has held since April, 1947, and brings Canada's executive positions into line with scouting in other countries.

Week's Leave Sweet As Sweetbriar Ends

By Douglas How
NORTHWAY, Alaska, Feb. 24.—(CP)—In a light soft snow Exercise Sweetbriar came to a spectacular conclusion yesterday.

A co-ordinated parachute-ground assault by hundreds of Canadian and American troops "wiped out" the last of the aggressor forces that have been fighting 11 rugged days. The temperature was around zero.

SPREE MONEY

With the paratroopers came a paymaster, Capt. George Kinnaird, of Winnipeg, with $3,000 in one and five dollar bills to let the Canadians buy what they want in the U.S. army post exchange or store. He had the money in a pocket.

The paratroopers, who came from the 1st Canadian Parachute Brigade, covering the scrub country towards the air strip while defence minister Cline and a wealth of generals watched.

The first assault was aimed at a mopup ahead by the tired but jubilant Canadian-American ground forces that have been slugging across country for days while the para company waited in White Horse 30 miles south for the word to go.

Mr. Cline told a press conference

St. John's College Oldest On Prairies

At the junction of the Assiniboine and Red Rivers today stands the city of Winnipeg, capital of Manitoba. It was at this spot that the Hudson's Bay Company established its headquarters for trading with Indians of the unknown west.

In these early days, when the painted Indians came from hundreds of miles around to trade their precious furs, the first college in the history of western Canada was formed. This was the St. John's College School, which was set up to teach young children in the community.

FIRST COLONY

In 1811, Lord Selkirk, a great Scotch colonizer, acquired control of Hudson's Bay Company, and was given about 120,000 square miles of land in the Red River valley and along the Assiniboine river, on the understanding that he would establish a colony. The idea was to import farmers to supply food to the HBC employees at the fort.

Conditions were very rough for these early settlers, but the HBC recognized the need for some way to educate the white children and agreed to the opening of a school. In 1820, Rev. John West was appointed as first chaplain and inducted into open schools for the people.

West's first act was to organize a small school in a little log cabin to receive children of the settlers. He named it the Red River Academy, which was later changed to St. John's College.

Senator John T. Haig, leader of the opposition, joined him. Senators pounded their desks to show they too welcomed the Japanese.

Uncle Wiggily's
Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggily, with Uncle Buster and Buster, were anxiously waiting for Queen Owlie and King Abby to announce the prize winners in the Painted Turtle Parade.

Tenple, the smallest turtle of all, on whose back Buster and Buster had painted a picture, was so excited that he put his head out of his shell as far as it would go. Then he pulled it back in again.

"I hope I win a prize! I hope I win a prize," said Tenple over and over again until Buster said: "Please keep still, Tenple. The king and queen are talking about the prizes and you may disturb them."

The albatross bird opened his beak and said:

"Queen Owlie and I have decided who are the prize winners. There are three prizes—on for the largest turtle with the best picture on his shell, a prize for the best picture on the shell of a middle-sized turtle and a prize for the best picture on a little turtle."

"I'm a little turtle. I'm the littlest turtle of all," whispered Tenple.

And Buster and Buster painted the best picture on my shell."

"Quiet, Tenple, please," whispered Uncle Wiggily.

"Don't let anybody find out I won the little prize," said Uncle Wiggily. "You can try again, Tenple. Once I was in a contest to see which goat could eat the most Swiss cheese. I thought: 'I would win but the prize went to a Nannie Goat. But I tried again next year and that time I ate a hundred times the length of the whole Swiss cheese and won the prize!'"

The champion, a type of lizard catches insects with a long sticky, chameleon-shaped tongue which can extend year and that time I ate a hundred times the length of the whole Swiss cheese and won the prize."

New Era Seen For Egyptians After Election

By JACK SAUL
Exclusive To The Bulletin

CAIRO, Feb. 24.—(BUP)—Iraqi political circles look forward to considerable improvement in inter-Arab relations in the Middle East as a result of the advent of the Wafd Party to power in Egypt.

That relations recently deteriorated, with opposing blocks being formed within the Arab League states, one led by Egypt and the other by the Hashemite ruling family in Iraq and Jordan, is locally attributed to the policy pursued by previous Egyptian governments.

Political quarters in Baghdad say that the Wafd is known to oppose this kind of grouping.

The Baghdad daily "Al-Nashr" elaborates on this in an editorial, saying:

"Egyptian Premier Mustafa el-Nahas Pasha, leader of the Wafd, is himself one of the architects of the Arab League. He stands for harmonious cooperation among the Arab countries—not for discord."

Iraqis add that a strong Egyptian government, backed by the popular support the Wafd enjoys, can act with courage in Iraq's outstanding differences.

"It is understandable," he said, "in the interests of every Arab country."

Archaeological work for an operation with Egypt. His visit to Cairo with Iraqi Minister of Education el-Husseini was with this aim in view.

Man Freed After 16 Years

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Theodore Marcinkiewicz, who served more than 16 years in prison for a 19-year sentence for murder, was freed in criminal court yesterday.

One of the first persons to greet Marcinkiewicz upon his release was Joseph Majorek, convicted with him in the slaying of policeman William Lundy in the attempted hold-up of a delicatessen, Majorek, after serving 11 years, was pardoned in 1945 when he was declared to be innocent. Two years later he was awarded $24,000 by the Illinois legislature as damages for unjust imprisonment.

SUPPRESSED STATEMENT
Majorek, whose fight for freedom was portrayed in the film "Cot Northside 777," now is an insurance salesman.

Chief Justice Thomas J. Lynch ruled that Marcinkiewicz's constitutional rights had been violated in that he had been given a fair trial. He said that a statement to police by the owner of the delicatessen, Mrs. Walsuch Kasulka, was suppressed but it produced by the state might have had a "very good influence on the jury."

Mrs. Kasulka had identified Marcinkiewicz as one of the slayers. But Edwin Bloch, assistant public defender, told Judge Lynch that after the trial Mrs. Kasulka had told police in a statement that she could not identify the slayer.

U.K. Speeding Trade With Other Countries

WINNIPEG, Man., Feb. 24.—(BUP)—The Manitoba legislature was told yesterday that the United Kingdom was making trade agreements with other countries at break-neck speed and the worst of Canada's trade situation was yet to come.

Diff Roblin (Ind. PC)—Winnipeg South) said the country was seeing the disintegration of a trade policy under which it had labored for ten years. Labeling it the "Gardiner Policy," Roblin said Premier Doug G. Campbell, and his coalition government must bear part of the responsibility for its failure.

The government could help to build the British market because the United States market was not such a favorable one as Canada might hope for, Roblin said.

Tariff tinkering would not help the situation, he said, suggesting that a commonwealth and United States currency union might be considered and that the possibility of free trade was not to be entirely dismissed.

The Alberta legislature opened yesterday in Edmonton with an announcement by the Social Credit government that it would use a big slice of its oil revenue to expand public works and aid farmers.

Bombay Will Ban Liquor April 1

Revenue To Drop $21,500,000 When Prohibition Commences

By Krishnan Kuttu
Exclusive to the Bulletin

BOMBAY, Feb. 24.—(BUP)—Thirty million inhabitants of Bombay Province, lying on the western seaboard of this vast sub-continent, will be legally barred from liquor when the Bombay Prohibition Act goes into effect on April Fool's Day, 1950.

Whether this great social reform will succeed or not is yet to be seen.

The introduction of this reform will cost the Bombay government the loss of approximately Rs. 110,000,000 ($21,500,000) derived annually in revenue from this source in place of this, income from the restricted sale of liquor in the province, 7,000 foreign residents will not a mere Rs. 5,000,000 ($1,000,000).

LOSS DEMONSTRATED
The anti-prohibitionists bemoan this loss to the exchequer. They claim the government can ill afford such idealism at a time when the country faces a host of grave economic crises.

Die-hard congressmen, who have fought the British powers tooth and nail over the past half-century in their battle to free India from its foreign yoke, believe it would be in keeping with Gandhian ideas for drinking to be completely abhorred.

Anti-prohibitionists point to the failure of the experiment in the United States, they maintain that the habit of drink is not "foreign" to the Hindu. Hindus have drunk from ancient times, and this day drink when propitiating the deities in the performance of certain religious rites.

STUPENDOUS DROP
While stressing the stupendous loss in revenue, the anti-prohibitionists claim that prohibition will usher in an era of amazing, unimagined and unexampled.

In Bombay, premier city of India with a population of some 3,000,000 the city police are hard put to it to cope with the present high rate of crime. Since the British left, inexperienced young Indian police officers have been promoted to senior operational jobs. While they work grimly, baffled by the magnitude of their assignments, the city's crime records soar.

Under the old liquor licenses will be granted hotels where at least thirty permit holders are ordinarily resident. The hotels granted the licenses will be required to provide a separate room for serving liquor.

Sheep's Teeth Gold-Plated But No Mine

Exclusive To The Bulletin

CANBERRA, Feb. 24.—(UPI)—James Keller almost started the gold rush of 1950 earlier this week when he went to a butcher shop to buy some sheep heads for mutton soup.

Home with the first head, he found each tooth in the sheep's head was gold-plated... and pure gold at that.

Keller silently went back to the butcher's and bought more sheep heads... explaining he had a great love for mutton soup. He found more gold.

Then he traced the sheep to their flock, planning to buy the entire mob and the land they graze on. But alas, the gold was traced to pastures where miners years before had mined the teeth of sheep and spears of gold.

The gold rush James Keller started fizzled out. Scientists explained that minute particles of gold stuck to the teeth of sheep when the animals munched grass in a gold-producing area.

Keller has lost his taste for mutton soup.

Leather Panties Help Claudette At Wire

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to the Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24.—(UPI)—Claudette Colbert said today her underwear "is sort of a barometer" of how her career is going.

"For different kinds of roles I wear different kinds of underthings," the dark-eyed movie star explained.

She said that for folksy heroines she wears things that look like and feel like burp sacks.

Come a romantic, glamorous job and she hauls out her lacy black fluff-nuffies and nylon-and-netting girdles.

And for those rough-and-ready roles she has been known to wear leather panties. That's what she said.

FORM-FITTING, TOO

"It was for the movie, 'Three Came Home,'" Miss Colbert explained. "I was a prisoner of the Japs in Borneo and I had to climb back and forth through barbed wire."

"That leather lingerie was for my protection. It was form-fitting, but if you've never tried to wear leather next to your skin... don't."

Miss Colbert said she feels about panties the way housewives do about their homes.

"I get tired of seeing the furniture arranged the same old way," she chuckled. "So I start pushing chairs around. This makes things more interesting. I've had lingerie that cost $150. And I've had some that cost $200."

Atom Scientists Go Dramatic In Chinese Fantasy

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—Instead of neutrons and isotopes, theatre was the chief topic of conversation yesterday among some of Canada's atomic experts.

Several physicists and chemists of the Chalk River atomic energy plant, members of the Little Theatre Group from Deep River, Ont., last night provided the operetta in the eastern Ontario regional drama festival.

The company, one of 50 clubs in the small community 150 miles northwest of here, has chosen a Chinese fantasy, "Circle of Chalk," as its entry in the week-long competition.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Rossellini movie "Stromboli" grossed more than its cost the first day it was shown, say industry sources. Film cost about $800,000 to make. Hollywood trade papers say the 320 United States theatres which showed it took in $1,245,000 the first day and estimate the first week's total at about $2,000,000.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Nobility was more surprised at John Ireland's Academy nomination than Ireland himself. He was named for a supporting role in "All The King's Men."

"I was the most surprised man in the world," the actor told me. "Why should I be nominated?"

"Sure, I was in practically every scene. But I had nothing to do. All I did was stand around with eggs on my face. About my only big scene was when I slapped Mercedes' head in the face. I just slapped her and that's all there was to it."

Ireland said he had some strong scenes in the original version which ran three hours. But the process of lopping off an hour's running time landed his character on the cutting room floor. He hasn't even seen the picture since it was cut.

Faith Domergue, Hollywood's most underworked actress, has just finished her second film and is beginning her second seven-year contract.

"I'm tired," she sighed as she finished the last scenes in "White House for Julie." "All the time off I had has made me lazy. I would certainly welcome a two-year vacation now."

Two-year vacations are not unusual with Faith. She was signed eight years ago and has never been seen on the screen. Her only other picture—"Venetia"—has never been released.

"I haven't minded," said Faith. "When I signed I was still in high school. I went on with high school."

Equalized Rail Rate 'Is A Long Way Off'

Canada Railways Study Attempt Along This Line by Roads in U.S.

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(CP)—Equalization of freight rates to satisfy all parts of Canada is still a long way off, a Canadian Pacific Railway official told the Royal Commission on Transportation.

C. E. Jefferson, CPK traffic vice-president, expressed this view as he continued evidence yesterday at the transportation inquiry. It was his 10th straight day on the witness stand.

WATCH U.S. EXPERIMENT

He was discussing proposals for equalization of rate levels in different parts of the country, which have been advanced by several provincial governments making submissions to the commission. They have contended that western and maritime rate scales are higher than those in Ontario and Quebec.

Under examination by Frank M. Covert of Halifax, commission counsel, the CPK official said the first step in any equalization plan would involve changing the railway's general classifications in which different commodities are grouped for rate-making. He noted something of the kind was being attempted in United States and suggested Canada should wait and see how the move worked out there.

Mr. Jefferson called for continuation of the measure of freedom which the railways now have in setting their own rates.

REJECTS ALBERTA PROPOSAL

He expressed opposition to the suggestion of some provinces that want the rate-regulating Board of Transport Commissioners to exercise tighter control over the railways in the fixing of their "agreed charges" and their competitive rates.

Agreed charges are low contract rates given by a railway to a shipper in return for a guaranteed percentage of its traffic. Competitive rates are those that have been pressed below normal to meet competition.

Mr. Jefferson also rejected an Alberta suggestion that competitive rates should first be approved by the Transport Board before being put into effect. At present, the railways may apply them at will and are not required to review by the board if anyone complains.

Mr. Jefferson said competitive rates have to be applied quickly to preserve traffic as competition develops, otherwise the business might be lost.

RATES BASED ON VALUE

Earlier, C. W. Brasher, British Columbia counsel, cross-examined Jefferson on his opposition to B.C.'s proposed "cost-of-service" principle for the setting of freight rates.

The B.C. plan, the railways would base rates to a greater extent than they do now on the cost of providing transportation.

Basics of the present method of setting rates, by which high-priced commodities generally are charged more than cheap ones, with costs of hauling a lesser factor in rate-making.

As an example, Mr. Brasher suggested that under cost-of-service thousands of other rates would have to be increased before the charges of those two products were hoisted.

TRANSCONTINENTAL RATE

In support of the controversial low "transcontinental" freight rates between that province and eastern Canada.

Mr. Brasher brought out testimony that the railways' water competition, by way of the Panama Canal, is cited as the reason for the lowered rail rates on transcontinental routes.

The transcontinental rates have been under fire before the commission by Alberta, which does not receive them and which contends they discriminate in favor of B.C.

Today Mr. Brasher told the commission that a new ship service to Vancouver had been started this winter from Halifax and Saint John, N.B. Last summer, one had started from Montreal.

The B.C. counsel suggested to Mr. Jefferson that the new service indicated water competition was going to be "more severe."

"There is going to be more than in the past," Mr. Jefferson replied, "not only on westbound traffic but also on that moving east."

He said one ship had recently made a voyage from Vancouver with 5,000,000 feet of lumber for the U.S. Atlantic seaboard and 400 tons of canned fish and vegetables for the Maritimes. This was the first shipment of its kind since before the second world war.

Mr. Jefferson said he had been advised also that the MacMillan interests of B.C. were going to open up a new service from Vancouver to Montreal to handle products of their various enterprises.

The CPK official said the service

Verigin Sent To Trial For Conspiracy

NELSON, B.C., Feb. 24.—(CP)—Michael (The Archangel) Verigin and John Fedoruk, his secretary, yesterday were committed to trial on conspiracy charges at the end of a four-day preliminary hearing in provincial police court.

Verigin, as well, was committed to trial on charges of conspiring to destroy or destroy a brilliant bridge in 1941 in two brief preliminary hearings following.

John Ledford, leader of the 5,000-member Sons of Freedom group of the religious sect, appears today in a fourth preliminary hearing. He is charged with conspiring to set fires in the area of this south-central area populated by the group.

Conspiracy charges against Verigin and his secretary in the first hearing included conspiracy to foster ill will, unrest, mudism and sedition.

Increase Army

BRUSSELS, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Belgium plans to increase her army to 130,000 men, Defence Minister Albert Devos told the 1940 strength of the army has been 62,500. Devos presented a military budget to the lower house totalling 12,000,000 francs (1240,000,000).

KEEPING HOUSE for her father is pretty Elsie Borroto, 19, of Manchester, N.H. She has been looking after her father, Reginald, since her mother died. In another part of the city, Dr. Hermann Sanders is on trial, charged with "murder killing" of her mother, Mrs. Borroto.

Best Peace Hope Seen In Stalemate on Arms

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Truman administration leaders, virtually despairing of an atomic control agreement with Russia, are looking into the question of how much security the United States might get out of a stalemate in the arms race—a kind of prolonged armed truce.

Thinking along this line had developed in the state department in connection with a general review of American foreign policy, including international atomic policy. The study is being led by the policy-planning staff.

Informed persons say that this review, which fits in with an array of American foreign risks, commitments and policies being made by the National Security Council, has not yet produced any solid decisions.

It has gone far enough, however, to persuade State Secretary Acheson that no major turn in American policy now are required.

This apparently means that for an indefinite period, the United States will continue to seek agreement with Russia on international control of atomic energy through the United Nations. President Truman has re-affirmed this policy.

It is in connection with this re-affirmation of United States policy that the idea of an atomic stalemate, which has been seen as a practical alternative to the ideal of obtaining a real atomic new system.

New System

LONDON, Feb. 24.—(Reuters)—A new radar system now guides ships approaching British ports, on trial for months, was brought into full use yesterday. Aircraft now can be identified and alerted up to 130 miles from London.

FISHING TRAWLER Crest arrived at Boston recently heavily coated with ice after a frigid trip from fishing banks in sub-zero weather. Vessel started listing sharply several hours before reaching port, but crew turned out to chip ice and she made port safely. Three crew members look happily from bridge to land.

Path of Future World Trade Seen Hinging on U.K. Election

By Norman M. MacLeod
Exclusive to the Bulletin

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—(BUP)—Official and unofficial Ottawa seemed lost for all but four words today. They were "how's the election going?"

Canada's MPs kept an almost minute-by-minute check on the British election results and said their outcome would decide the world's future trade picture.

Their forecasts of just how this would affect Canada were full of ifs and buts.

Canada's potential success with its overseas marketing hinged on just two points, they said, and the immediate and short-term effect of a Labor, Conservative or coalition government would ring few changes.

FEDERATION WITH TORIES

But the consensus was that a Conservative victory, a question mark for hours after the poll, would clear the way for Canada to step up its trade with European countries.

If wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill rode his Conservatives to power it would give the clearinghouse Churchill a chance to put his long-dreamed-of European federation into effect.

Trade officials said this would help Canadian exporters looking for more business abroad.

As the returns rolled in, official Ottawa seemed to set its pace to the click of teleprinters in news service offices.

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's secretaries kept him constantly

"Discontent and fear" was spreading throughout Canada. This was dangerous. It was essential in the light of the spread of Communism to avoid conditions which undermined the confidence of the people.

The big problem, on which there had been no progress, was in finding a way of getting surplus production to the people of the world who need it. Today the problem was far greater than between the two wars because Canada's production was greater.

His reasons for optimism were: prices of beef animals were higher today than in February, 1946; domestic requirements for beef in 1946 were seven per cent higher than in 1946; and Canadian population continued to grow and increase that market.

His only doubts were if herds should be liquidated. Cattle were at the moment being slaughtered at an accelerated rate.

Much Damage

LIVERPOOL, N.S., Feb. 24.—(CP)—Hempire, which may cost up to $1,000,000, will begin shortly to a power dam on the Mersey River which burst Wednesday, spilling a roaring torrent of water down the river. Previously, the only known damage amounted to about $5,000. No one was hurt.

Good Year Forecast For Cattlemen

SASKATON, Feb. 24.—(CP)—D. A. Andrew, secretary of the Canadian Herford Association, told the annual meeting yesterday that demand would be maintained and marketings would be as high this year as in 1949.

His reasons for optimism were: prices of beef animals were higher today than in February, 1946; domestic requirements for beef in 1946 were seven per cent higher than in 1946; and Canadian population continued to grow and increase that market.

His only doubts were if herds should be liquidated. Cattle were at the moment being slaughtered at an accelerated rate.

Doctor Reports Find To Aid Arthritis Victims

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—(AP)—The hormones cortisone and ACTH. Blood from new mothers is a good and fairly cheap medicine to the pain of rheumatoid arthritis. Dr. Louis E. Granitzer said yesterday. Arthritis victims have regained health and stayed well for three to 12 weeks, he reported in Science Journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The studies were made at the arthritis clinic of Queens General Hospital, Jamaica, N.Y.

These recoveries are apparently temporary, similar to those from years.
